TWO CENTS

DECLARES THAT UNDERWOOD STATEMENT IS MISLEADING

John W. Warrick Says Controller's Attack Is Misrepresentation

COUNTY WILL NOT LOSE MONEY

The Monongahela Republican in its issue of the 11th inst., in which it publishes the card signed by the "Washington County Good Roads Anti-Road Association," and which appears to be T. J. Underwood, advises the people of Monongahela to vote "No," because it says that Washington, Charleroi and Bentleyville will receive all the benefit, apparently forgetting the fact that the old Williamsport pike, between Monongahela and Washington, is one of the three stretches of roadways in the county marked for immediate improvement.

John W. Warrick, president of the Washington County Good Roads association, in reply to the card issued by the Anti-Bond Issue association made the following statement yesterday:

"The assertion that the money secured from the bond issue is to be turned over to the State Highway department is not true. No such plan has ever been contemplated nor nothing has been said that would cause any intelligent reader so to interpret the program advocated by our organization.

"The roads proposed are to be built under the plans and specifications of the State Highway department. Before a contract is awarded for a road that the county must pay for the county commissioners must approve the bid and must sign the contract. If the price bid is not satisfactory to them, it is not at all necessary for them to become a party to the contract and bids must be called for again. The money for the roads will be paid directly by the county to the contractor, the State Highway department paying one dollar of the county's money.

"The further statement that the roads are to be built when, how and at any price the State Highway department pleases without any county control or supervision, is not correct in any particular. The county commissioners have already designated the order in which the roads are to be built and the program as outlined is to be finished within four years. The State Highway department is showing its good faith already by commencing preliminary work on four of the roads, believing that the bond issue will carry. If it does not carry, at least a goodly portion of this work must stop at once.

State Roads Not Costlier.

The statement that the State Highway department is building roads at a cost of two or three times as much as those built by the county, is not borne out by the facts. The Cecil-North Starbane road at $57,362.59 a mile is the same road as mentioned later on as the Canonsburg-Bridgeville road at about $60,000.00 a mile. It might also have been called the Pittsburg pike, thus giving another road for comparison. There is heavy grading on this road, it is distant from railroads and has a heavy foundation and a permanent top of brick and concrete. It and the West Alexander road, 24 feet in width are war emergency road and do not furnish a fair basis for comparison, although when considered without the foundation, grading and drainage are costing no more than roads resurfaced by the county.

The East Bethlehem road quoted as costing $58,000, I am informed, has a retaining wall costing approximately $18,000, has over $6,000 worth of grading on the road and has fencing costing about $2,000. Deducting this from the total of the road and it leaves the surface, the foundation and the drainage at about the same cost as the county roads referred to; with this difference, that the county roads are both resurfaced projects only, that the foundation was already provided, that there was no drainage to take care of, no retaining wall to build, no fencing to put up.

In short, from the Anti-Bond Issue association's own figures, it is demonstrated that the State Highway department is putting in its foundation and its tops for substantially the same price as the county is putting on the top dressing alone.

"It is a quite well known fact that the County Club road for which the county is now paying $28,270 a mile, is the third road on that site; the first one was water bound macadam, built about ten years ago, to which a Tarvia top was added when the water bound macadam surface was worn out. This Tarvia top in turn was worn out and the concrete top was put on at a cost of $28,270 a mile for the top alone, the foundation, grading and the drainage already being supplied.

Comparisons Are Urgent.

"The Canonsburg-Houston road was a little over one-half mile of construction, paralleling a railroad, with an improved road at each end, so that all supplies could be hauled over substantial roads to both ends of this construction. The original road put down was of brick, was the first brick road that the county built and lasted about eight years. When the brick was worn out and spread for the lack of a curb, it was taken up and thrown away and a concrete top put down on the old foundation, without grading or drainage or retaining walls, or any extraordinary expense of any kind. It was a resurfacing proposition pure and simple and could by no stretch of the imagination be classed as a new road.

"The whole statement given out by the Anti-Bond Issue association is absolutely without foundation, in fact, is a deliberate attempt to deceive the voters and is not correct in any comparison it makes.

"The Good Roads' Association of

Sacrificed His Life To Rescue Drowning Lad

Our neighboring community of near enough to the shore for others Speers was suddenly plunged into to pull him out, but sank before any-grief Wednesday afternoon when it was announced that Lash L. Beazell, a young man aged 18 years, had been drowned in the Monongahela river. The young man gave his life in a heroic and successful attempt to save the life of another, the exertion exhausting him to such an extent that he was unable to reach shore in safety.

Young Beazell had been a young man in moving during the morning and early in the afternoon, about 2:30 o'clock, had gone to the river to take a swim. A number of boys aged from seven to ten years were in swimming at the time. The steamer Africa with a tow of empty barges was passing at the time and Ward Speers, aged seven years was caught in the undertow of the waves and was drowning. Beazell, who had not yet removed his clothing, jumped into the water to rescue the drowning lad. He succeeded in getting the little fellow near enough to the shore for others to pull him out, but sank before any-grief Wednesday afternoon when it was announced that Lash L. Beazell, a young man aged 18 years, had been drowned in the Monongahela river. The young man gave his life in a heroic and successful attempt to save the life of another, the exertion exhausting him to such an extent that he was unable to reach shore in safety.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Beazell of Speers and a very popular young man, having resided there all his life. He was an active member of the Speers Methodist Episcopal church, a graduate of the Charleroi high school and a member of the Alpha Phi Beta.

He is survived by his parents, one sister Myrtle and two brothers, Arthur and Fred all at home. James T. Heffernan is an uncle of the young man.

Funeral services will be held at his late home, Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock, interment in the Belle Vernon cemetery.

UNDERWOOD IS OPPOSED TO ISSUE

T. J. Underwood county controller, as a private citizen and a taxpayer is opposing the proposed bond issue, which the voters of Washington county will pass upon next Tuesday. Thousands of cards, signed by the "Washington County Good Roads Anti-Bond Issue Association," T. J. Underwood, have been sent broadcast throughout the county to the voters in which Mr. Underwood sets forth inadvisability of voting for the bonds.

Mr. Underwood in the first place, as controller, for a time refused to give his approval to the proposition and it looked as though the matter would be blocked from getting to the people for their decision. Later he withdrew his objections and now has decided to fight the proposition as a citizen and a taxpayer. Many of the cards have been received in Charleroi, but it is the opinion of many that it will only stimulate the friends of the bond issue movement to greater efforts in order to put through the measure.

EXERCISES WILL BEGIN AT 8 P. M.

The commencement exercises of the Charleroi high school will begin at 8 o'clock promptly this evening. Patrons of the school and friends of the graduating class should remember this and be in their seats promptly before that hour. Prof. Reed R. Teitrick, of Harrisburg, Deputy State Superintendent, will deliver the address to the class, and must leave on the 9:23 train. Consequently it is necessary for the program to begin promptly at the hour mentioned.

On the first of July we will again have the two-cent postage rate.

FORD TOURING CAR STOLEN LAST NIGHT

Robert Todd, of Belle Vernon, owner of a Ford touring car, is minus the machine today, as it was stolen from him last night, between 9:30 and 10 o'clock. Todd, with a party of friends, motored from Belle Vernon to Charleroi last evening, and left the machine in front of Spencer's garage while they visited the carnival. When the party returned about 10 o'clock the machine was gone. The license number was 193,383.

A FRIENDLY HINT

We are paying 2c a word for this advertisement to tell our customers of present conditions in the dry goods market. The raw cotton market is very excited, advances of $10.00 a bale in a single day being common. Cotton advanced over $40.00 a bale (500 pounds) in May, consequently there has been a sharp advance in the price of all cotton goods. The moment peace is declared, there will be an enormous demand from foreign countries for all classes of goods we manufacture and as the market is very bare at the present imagine how prices will soar when it is thrown open to the markets of the world once more. Millions of Europeans are now wearing clothing and underwear made of paper and straw, and some new born infants have old newspapers for swaddling clothes. Imagine how eagerly those people will buy up our muslins, sheetings, flannels and bedding. Prices will be no object and the demand is a big factor in fixing prices. We are well supplied with ginghams, muslins, sheetings, etc., that we offer for a few days at from 3c to 10c less than present market prices, and suggest that it would be wise to buy now.

COMING CHAUTAUQUA WILL PROVIDE FINE LIST OF ENTERTAINMENTS

Splash boards were placed on the comb of the dam at Lock 4 on Wednesday, which gave a better stage of water at Lock 5. The Carnegie company wants all the water possible, in order to load out their big steel barges to as near capacity as possible. The Carnegie company, by the way, is transporting more coal on the Monongahela at the present time than any other company.

FELL THRO' SKYLIGHT AND BADLY INJURED

Estella Czemyk, of 413 McShan avenue, Monessen was brought to the Charleroi-Monessen hospital at one o'clock today, suffering from severe concussions, received a short time before when she fell through a skylight in the Krasnick studio at Fourth street and Schoonmaker avenue, Monessen. The girl was an employee of the studio and at the time of the accident was cleaning the glass in the skylight when she lost her balance and fell. She was badly bruised and was unconscious when picked up.

ELEPHANTS WILL GO A-SWIMMING

The elephants with the "World at Home" shows, now exhibiting at the ball park have decided to become patrons of the bathing beach, and will give an exhibition of their skill as swimmers Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The exhibition is free and everybody is invited to see these huge beasts do stunts in the water.

Additional facilities for the accommodation of patrons are being added to the equipment, Mr. Schafer having contracted for a new flat which will be in commission today. Heavier posts will be placed for the lower safety fence; the old ones not proving sufficient to hold up the wire guards.

REGULAR MEETING OF SELF DENIAL CLASS.

The Self Denial class of the Washington Avenue Presbyterian church will hold a regular meeting Friday evening at the home of Miss Sarah K. York. Booth, Center avenue, Lock Four. The hostesses will be Miss Booth and Mrs. James Rotherum. Members are requested to take the car leaving Fifth street, Charleroi at 8 p. m.

Moonlight Picnic.

Members and friends of the Star Class of the First Christian church will hold a moonlight picnic Thursday evening June 12. Meet at church at 8 o'clock. All are urged to be present.

Advertise that vacant room in the classified column of the Mail.

LECTURES AND MUSIC FEATURE

The Lincoln Chautauqua, which comes to Charleroi for one week beginning Tuesday, June 24, will present a very comprehensive and delightful program for the entertainment of our people. Copies of these programs have been very generously distributed about town, and they tell just what the attractions will be for each day. The head-liner for this series of entertainments appears to be General Mesrop Newton Azgapatian, who commanded a division of the Russian Army in the world war, and who will speak on world problems on the evening of the fifth day.

The program as arranged provides for a morning hour, which begins at 10 o'clock, at which time athletics and games, conducted by the Junior Supervisor, will be the features. Of course this time is for the younger folks, and no doubt they will enjoy this feature to the utmost. Following then in regular order the program for each day will be as follows:

First day—2:30 p. m., Opening exercises conducted by platform superintendent.

2:45 P. M.—Entertainment and musical concert, the Ionian Serenaders. 7:30 P. M.—Popular lecture by platform superintendent and at 8:30 P. M. musical concert by the Ionian Serenaders.

Second day—At 2:30 P. M. Warwick Male Quartet, followed at 3:15 by a lecture, "Sixty Minutes in a Flying Machine," by John Howard Dickason. Evening at 7:30 popular concert, the Warwick Male Quartette, and at 8:15 p. m. a lecture, "Young Men in Demand," by John Howard Dickason.

Third day—2:30 p. m. Smith-Spring Holmes quintette, followed at 3:15 by a lecture, "The Greater Pyramid," by Prof. Walter Kirkland Green. In the evening at 7:30 an artists' concert by the Smith-Spring-Holmes quintette.

Fourth day—2:30 p. m., Miss Mary Alice Rose, pianist, followed at 3:15 by a lecture, "Reconstruction and Social Service," by Martha E. Abt. In the evening at 7:30 grand opera, the Louis Kreidler company, featuring Louis Kreidler, America's great baritone singer, formerly of the Metropolitan Opera Company of New York.

Fifth day—2:30, a popular concert by Daddy Grobecker's Yodlers, followed at 3:15 by a health demonstration by Mr. and Mrs. G. Rucker Adams. At 7:30 a popular concert by Daddy Grobecker's Yodlers, followed at 8:30 by an address on World Problems by Gen. Mesrop Newton Azgapatian.

Sixth day—Entertainment at 2:30 by the Dixie Duo, followed at 3:15 by a lecture to be given by a Red Cross nurse. In the evening at 7:30 a pageant "Columbia in Fairyland." Final performance at 8:30 with Character Portrayals by Robert O. Bowman.

WAS PREPARED TO DEFEND HIS COUNTRY

Tony Cedovitch from the Bentleyville district, a Slav, but an American citizen, and a veteran of the recent war, having served overseas, upon a plea of guilty before Judge McHavine in the Washington county court on Tuesday, to the charge of the unlawful possession of a revolver, was paroled on payment of costs and he may be even exonerated of these.

An inquiry into the facts elicited the information that Cedovitch, though out of the service, was still determined to stand up for the country of his adoption. It is said that he had put the gun in his possession, after overhearing some remarks which were derogatory to the government; in fact those making the remarks it is said were apparently friendly to Bolshevik ideas. Cedovitch got a gun and was prepared to use it if these parties insisted on attacking the government for which Cedovitch had fought.

Cedovitch, who is described as a fine looking young man, had a finger shot off each hand while in the service. It is said the case should not have gone to court but should have been settled before the local justice at Bentleyville.

Two of a Name.

Two neighbors of a young couple who had been married but a few weeks were greatly surprised to hear unmistakable sounds of quarreling between them. "Charlie," the young wife was heard to say impatiently, "if you ever come into this house again and muddy my carpets with your feet, back home you go!" "That's serious!" said one neighbor to the other, and they proceeded to discuss the question whether the young pair could live together another week. The next day, however, a curly-haired black pup was seen playing on the lawn of the new householders. "Charlie," the young wife was saying to the new pet, "I'm sorry I scolded you last night, but your feet were terribly muddy!"

Huge Markstones.

There are numerous well-authenticated cases of hailstones weighing half a pound and more, but claims which go far beyond this meager weight are made. Stones of six to eight pounds are said to have fallen in Namur in 1719, and the missionary, Father Hue, who ought to be a credible witness, records the fall in Tartary, in 1843, of a block of ice as big as a millstone, which took three days to melt. In May, 1802, a Hungarian village reported a 1,130-pound block, requiring eight men to remove it; and in Tipu's time, one as big as an elephant was said to have fallen near Seringapatam.

Average Weight of Horses.

The average weight of a mature farm horse for the United States is 1,208 pounds. Washington, the most northwestern state of the Union, has the highest state average, 1,350 pounds, seconded by Maine, the most northeastern state, with 1,325 pounds. Lightest-weight horses are found in Florida, the most southeastern state, with an average weight of 850 pounds. Mature mules on farms of the United States average 956 pounds. Washington again leads, with 1,110 pounds, followed by Oregon, with 1,100 pounds. Lightest mules are found in Mississippi, where the average is 865 pounds.

When the Auto Was New.

In March, 1897, in the New York Journal, a writer described his first motor car ride as follows: "In search of a new sensation I went yesterday and rode in a horseless carriage. I dreamed once that I walked down Fifth avenue in my pajamas in the full tide of the afternoon, promenading and almost died with shame before I awoke. Yesterday I had something of the same strange feelings as I sat there and felt myself pushed forward into the very face of grinning, staring and sometimes jeering New York."

Many Joys.

"Your wife says the engine makes such a noise that you can't hear anything she says to you." "Yes, motoring with a car like mine has many advantages." — Louisville Courier-Journal.

THEIR LAST DANCE TOGETHER

Mrs. Castle Tells a Pretty Story of Her Final Performance With Her Husband.

Irene Castle's memories of her late husband, Capt. Vernon Castle, conclude in Everybody's with the following account of their last public appearance:

"Our last dance together was while he was instructing up at Camp Mohawk, Canada. He had been given permission to come to New York especially to dance with me at a British recruiting benefit which was held at the New York Hippodrome. Because of the nature of the occasion, he had been given permission to dance in uniform. It had been long since we had danced our old dances together, and it had been necessary the day before to work quite hard in brushing up. I had expected that Vernon would have forgotten altogether a lot of the steps or that he would be a little stiff from lack of practice, but on the night of the benefit he danced divinely. At the close of the performance many beautiful flowers were handed to us over the footlights. We bowed and bowed again our thanks. In the wings Vernon nervously kissed my hand and there were tears in his eyes. I wonder if he guessed we had danced our last dance, and the last ring of applause for us was still.

"The world had been very good to us. We had lived well and lavishly because of that same applause. Together we tasted success, fame and money. Thank God that at no time during that night did I dream it was the end."

SIMILAR TO SHELL SHOCK

Malady Affecting Those Unfortunate Enough to Be on Ships That Were Torpedoed.

Cases have lately come to the attention of the military surgeons where the fright and fear due to ships being torpedoed have given rise to symptoms suggestive of shell shock. Doctor Clunet, in a communication to the Neurological society of Paris, has described the mental effect observed when on board a ship which was torpedoed.

After the first stupefaction following the attack it was observed that several passengers discharged guns into the air or into the sea. In other words, the post-war nervous energy found release in letting loose the immense energy concentrated in explosives. Similarly, it was well known at the front that a long day of waiting in the trenches was productive of more cases of shell shock than a day of active engagement with the enemy. Next there were a few cases of suicide among the passengers. These passengers were on the whole calm enough, even on the life rafts. It was only when they were on the rescuing ship that psychoneurotic phenomena began to develop, including mutism, spasmodic weeping, laughter, tremors, spasmodic movements of the limbs, etc.

The Versatile Carrot.

There is nothing like a war to change the status of things. Look, for example, at the humble carrot. Before the war it was one of the loyalest of all the vegetables, seldom used except for stews or New England boiled dinners, but it certainly has been doing its bit in the culinary line recently. It has become a past master in the art of camouflage. Grated raw, it is said to be a very good substitute for eggs in certain things. Little slices dried become raisins and currants, and other bits, treated a little differently, masquerade as candied orange and lemon peel. Orange marmalade and certain kinds of jam are made of them, and large chunks of them boiled and sugared make wonderful candied fruits of every kind—pineapples, pears, apricots, cherries—and are used by many caterers to give their war cakes and puddings a prosperous and festive look.

Work for East Indian Women.

The thought of Mohammedans fighting for Christian ideals, of dark age heathenism taking up arms for the cause of civilization and humanity, opens a vista that would be staggering were it not that the idea has long been dreamed of.

As one result of the war, the women of India, have for the first time worked in the government departments in Delhi, and the question is being debated as to giving women equal representation with men in the plans of the India National society. In all the battle for larger things India has met the problems common to all lands with the most modern, efficient and self-sacrificing methods.

The women of India can henceforth be counted on as a factor in the larger problems of reconstruction.

American dairy products are more favorably received in Europe than ever. Exports of condensed milk to Europe rose from 16,000,000 pounds in 1914, to 53,000,000 in 1928, and there were notable increases in the export of other dairy products. Most of this was due to war demands, but there seems an opportunity to expand in dairy exports. A normal increase in dairying in this country, is justified providing there is the necessary increase in field crops.

The Installment Method.

"I see we can pay our income tax in installments."
"At last the government has hit upon a plan with which I am perfectly familiar."

A real estate deal which may have some local significance was made as of date of April 24, 1917, when the Monongahela Valley Improvement company of Pittsburgh sold to the Pittsburgh Steel company three contiguous tracts of land in Dumfries, the consideration being nominal.

The Hatcher damage case which was on trial all day yesterday before Judge McHavine in the Washington county court, had not reached the jury when court adjourned Tuesday evening.

Charleroi Traction team of the Traction League, defeated the Carnegie team 19 to 1 at Innis Park. The great pitching of Anderson of Charleroi team, letting Carnegie down by 1 infield hit. O'Brien catching for Charleroi was a scream.

We are told that the peace treaty may be signed in July. Well, if it isn't there are August, September, etc., to follow in regular rotation.

"IT DOES THE WORK," SAYS MRS. SCHOCH

Mrs. M. C. Schoch, 2045 Brandywine St., Phila., tells of the great results that came to her husband after using Tanlac. "His stomach and kidneys caused him to suffer and his entire system was all run down. He suffered from pains across the back and in the stomach with belching of gas. He decided to try Tanlac and it brought him the results. Tanlac does the work it claims to do."

The genuine J. I. Gore Co. Tanlac is sold here by Frank J. John Pipers Pharmacy and other leading druggists.

A mine pit pony called Fuhsen (after the winner of the Lincolnshire handicap in 1896) has just completed 20 years' continuous service in a South Kirby (Eng.) colliery.

Fuhsen was taken down the South Kirby colliery in April, 1939, and only once has he since been brought to the surface.

This remarkable pony has never had a day's rest in his life, and with an aged and infirm owner, he is still going strong.

'Indian Tailor Bird.

A very curious nest is made by the tailor bird of India, a tiny yellow creature. To escape snakes and monkeys this bird takes a dead leaf, flies up into a tree, and with a fiber for a thread and its bill for a needle sews the leaf to a green one hanging from the tree. The sides are sewn up, an opening to the nest thus formed being left at the top. The leaf, apparently hanging from a twig, would never be taken for a nest.

Unlucky Thirteen.

A correspondent suggests that the origin of the "unlucky thirteen" superstition is to be found in the casting lots by Hanan to discover a "lucky day" for the destruction of the Jews. The 13th was certainly a most unfortunate selection in this case, and the story was so popular in the middle ages that it may really have given rise to the superstition.

Friendship That Lasts.

Friendship is apt to creep away into some corner of the temple on whose shrine love has descended. This mild affection is but a twinkling taper that will burn steadily on, perhaps unseen amid the dazzling glory of love's supernature lamp, when the lamp is shattered.

Barbadoes Island.

Barbadoes Island is the most easterly of the West Indies. George Washington took the one foreign journey of his life to Barbadoes with his invalid brother, Lawrence Washington. It is the most densely populated in the world, averaging 1,120 people per square mile.

Garrulous Husbands.

"Don't expect a wife always to be the listener," advises Winifred Black. Certainly not. Wives have to sleep occasionally. The fact is, the law ought to punish those garrulous husbands who talk the wives to death. —Houston Post

The Oldest Newspaper.

Benjamin Franklin contributed much to the development of journalism in colonial days. An editor at the age of 18 and a prolific writer, he was identified at some time or another in his life with many of the newspapers which flourished during this period. The oldest newspaper in the United States, which has been continued without interruption of issue or change of name, is the New Hampshire Gazette. It was first published in Portsmouth, N. H., in 1756.

Place of Fat Men in History.

Fat and fame have not very often been combined, perhaps, because stout men are generally inclined to be easy going, and therefore lacking in that push which brings a man to the fore. Says London Answers. The only great statesman one can recall who was really a fat man was Charles James Fox, as can be seen even by his effigy in the palace of Westminster, where he would make three of his great rival, Pitt the younger.
